To Challenge,

We at Coolidge live with change in ourselves, in our school and in the world that surrounds us. As we assume responsibility we become more aware of our freedoms to challenge, to experiment, and to learn.

Challenging is the first step in achieving change. When the passage of time makes certain parts of society's structure obsolete, it becomes necessary to call old ways into question.

The freedom to challenge is an educational experience in the lives of Coolidge students. It resulted in the questioning of generally acceptable curriculum offerings, environmental surroundings and dress codes.

Challenging old ways is important but unless innovative substitutes follow, the freedom is useless. Innovations require experiment. A well thought-out hypothesis must be drawn up and put to trial. For Coolidge, Black studies become a reality, the Reading Lounge is established, a section beautification program is initiated, and dress codes cease to exist. In these instances, challenging and experimenting are complete. Many of the advocates of change are satisfied.

While Janice Smith washes a beaker, Derrick Eiland adjusts a funnel for a chemistry experiment.

To Experiment,

Luciano Maione compares two specimens under microscopes in biology class. Gerald Vails, while resting on the sidelines, looks for his opponents' weaknesses. He will soon be in the game and take full advantage of them.

Gail Warren quickly checks her notes to make sure of their accuracy.

To Learn . . .

Gerald Turner prays that the teacher won't collect the homework.

Barbara Quick ponders a question, "Now just what is it that I want to know?"

Eric Meyers observes from a distance as Louise Leonard and Sharon Hill experiment with white mice in advanced biology class.

Cheerleader Debra Mackey socks her cheer to the Coolidge fans as the other cheerleaders await their turn.

Leads To Responsibility

The freedom to learn is the result of challenging and experimentation. Challenge leads to hypothesis and innovation, experimentation leads to evaluation. To evaluate is to learn. We at Coolidge have looked at the old and the new closely. We have tried to determine values and have drawn conclusions. Perhaps the old needed little change, or maybe it required a complete overhaul. Each time that we have experimented we have had an educational experience.

To challenge, to experiment, to learn are privileges that we are free to exercise or ignore. When we ignore opportunity, then little is accomplished. On the other hand, when we take advantage of our freedoms, constructive change becomes a reality. Our responsibility is to use all of our freedoms wisely.

To have challenge without suggestions, to have experiments without evaluations, to have conclusions without proper implementation is ineffectual. We have a responsibility to ourselves and the future to complete the educational cycle.

Teamwork pays off as Ronald Franklin scores another run for Coolidge.

acknowledged the importance of reading and the role of books in their lives. They are, from left to right, Gail Frazier, Cheryl Green, and Michael Kelly.

Colts Discover A New World Of Books

The Room is a place where students can find a variety of books. Michael Kelly, Cheryl Green, and Gail Frazier are sitting in the comfortable chairs.

Sharon Jackson, Sharon Robinson, and Francine Green eat lunch in the midst of their study for an English exam.

English

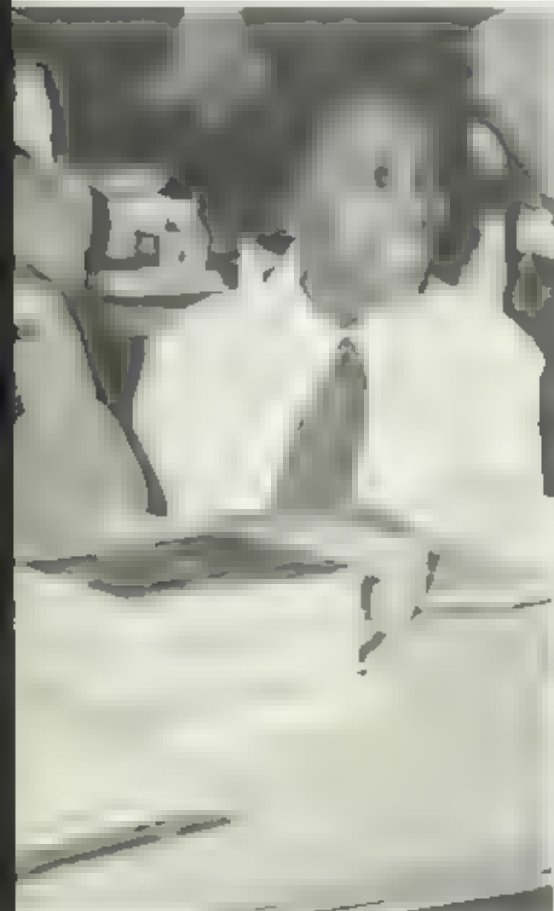

Creativity, extension of the mind in all areas, at all times. This has been the particular goal of Coolidge's English department this year. The main emphasis has been on reading. A paperback reading lounge was created. The lounge, with its bright colors and psychedelic posters, was full of many types of reading matter from Peanuts to Paine. Teachers were trained to include remedial reading in all class work. A class in reading development was added.

In addition to learning fundamentals of grammar, English students used these skills this year in keeping daily journals. For many, it was their first opportunity to "sound off."

A dramatics course was added for students interested in theater arts. They studied the history of the theater, attended plays, and studied acting techniques. A course in creative writing was also made available to students. Experimentation with all forms of poetry and prose highlighted the course.

In spite of a strong aversion towards slumber, Warren Brewster is attracted by the exciting titles of paperback books.

Danise Bouldin smiles happily as Lynn Fox seeks her assistance in clarifying a point in his English homework.

Black Studies: Innovation

Coolidge met the challenge to provide courses relating to Afro-American students during the 1969-70 school year by adding some new courses and modifying others. Students were given the opportunity to learn about their heritage and culture.

An experimental course in Swahili was started with Mr. Bwana Ngwa of Cameroun teaching a class of thirty pupils. Students not only learned Swahili as a written and spoken language, but also were taught the culture of Africa.

Students in the African music classes taught by Mrs. Germaine Slaughter have learned how to make and play tribal Mark Jackson's bush symbolizes the awakening of black pride.

Michelle McKenzie shows enthusiasm while playing the talking drum.

Many experiments in learning are being conducted in English classes as junior students explore the world of Black literature. This gives students a knowledge of contemporary Black novels, poems, and plays. This reading helps to awaken minds to thinking of the Black man's struggle for identity.

Students had the opportunity to create their own African art in the regular art classes. Learning about the art of Africans and studying masks contribute to art appreciation.

As Afro-Americans learn about their heritage and culture they accept a responsibility to use and spread the knowledge that they receive at Coolidge.

instruments. This has involved exploring customs of different tribes and the promotion of cultural understanding. Guest speakers have made frequent appearances

Afro-American history is the answer to the challenge presented by those Afro-American students who have wished to know more about the Negro contributions which have been omitted from American history textbooks. This course includes the story of the Negro from the beginning of the Negro race in Africa down to the problems of present day

Newly elected school board member, Charles Cassell talks with students who have assembled in the cafeteria during the October 15 Moratorium Day observances. Mr. Cassell centered his remarks on the right of protest.

Social Studies, An Avenue To Future Understanding

Yesterday's problems, plus an awareness of and individual involvement in today's affairs, challenged the student in the social studies department. The past, with its politics, its economics, and its social problems, was studied in depth.

Race relations, a new three-day-a-week course, was introduced this year. It emphasized Afro-American thinking and explored the problems of racial tension. Moratorium days were used to stress individual involvement in today's affairs. In addition to participating in assembly and discussion programs planned at Coolidge many students were involved in the March of Death from Arlington Cemetery to the Capitol.

Courses in American, Afro-American, Latin American and world history led students to a better understanding of past and present.

Government and law courses contributed to an understanding of the American system of government. Visiting lawyers from the Internal Revenue Service put realism into present day governmental practices and contributed to the students' understanding.

In studying economics students not only learned marketing, supply, and demand, but also the importance of a stable economy in today's world.

Problems in welfare, crime, and other social ills became subjects for discussion in sociology classes.

Below Carolyn Chantler "aware she saw a white dove" in her advanced biology class.

Gloria Allen compares her results with those of Greia McComb during a chemistry experiment.

Math And Science Spark

The Science department this year continued to expand its experimental techniques.

A new course in laboratory techniques was added to the list of biology offerings. Students in this class learned how to conduct many types of experiments, basic to laboratory work. A large number of white laboratory rats and mice was available for use in all biology classes.

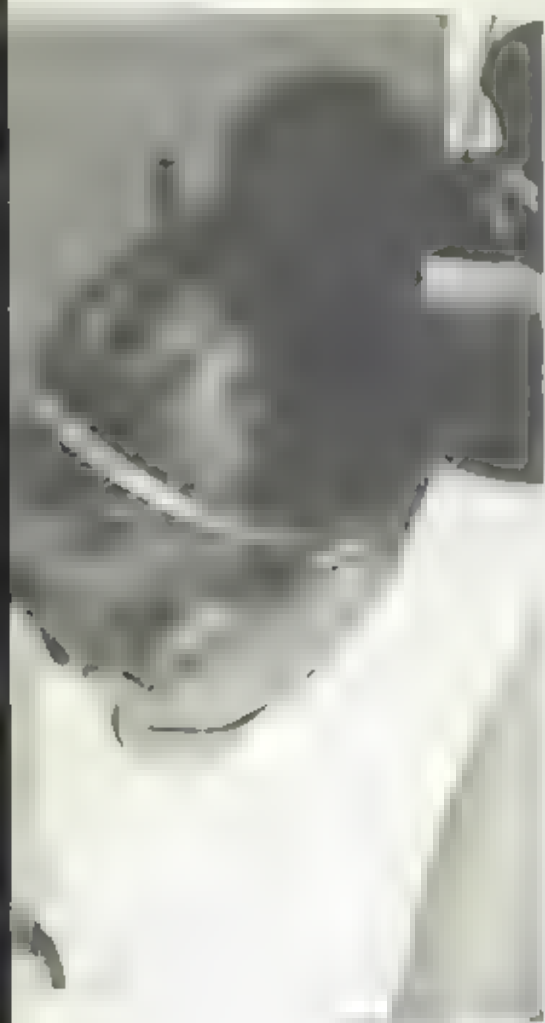

Students in the chemistry classes were taught the basic properties of chemicals and compounds. They supplemented their textbook materials with various experiments in the laboratories.

Physics students applied mathematics to their studies of light, sound, and energy. They observed demonstrations of various physical laws which helped to clarify hard-to-grasp concepts.

The mathematics curriculum at Coolidge has been designed to prepare today's students for the world of tomorrow. By strengthening fundamental courses and adopting new courses as the necessity arises, the math department continues to give Coolidgites a solid grounding in mathematics. A course in finite mathematics will be introduced soon to meet the needs of students interested in economics, business, and other related behavioral sciences.

Besides the basic subjects of algebra and geometry, courses this year included applied mathematics, applied geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry, elementary functions and analytic geometry.

Advanced topics such as topology and abstract algebra have been integrated into elementary courses to interest the students into meeting the constant challenges of mathematics.

And the future is now.

The Challenge Of The Future

With the future of the world in the balance, the future of the world is now.

With the future of the world in the balance, the future of the world is now.

Winter at Camp was a time for preparation. The entire school was alerted and lessons were made to launch a clean-up campaign.

Seniors sent out college and job applications, and juniors and sophomores began to consider whether to choose college or a career. Students in senior school are busy to study for their final examination.

No, there aren't — because of the fact I was one of the workers who participated in the strike.

[illegible]

Mr. Harvard Jones points out the components of a car engine to Howard Burnett, Deborah Wright, Larry Jones and Harris.

In driver education classes, students had the use of simulators, machines which simulated actual driving conditions. Thus students were able to practice their driving without using an actual car. Students also learned traffic safety rules.

Home economics students learned the basics of cooking, sewing, and running a home efficiently. This included the preparation of economical and nutritious meals as well as the techniques of making inexpensive and fashionable clothing.

Sutton Dyson bastes a hem preparatory to sewing it on the machine.

Students of art are challenged to take a creative approach to all art activities as they learn about the elements of design, composition, and structure.

They experiment with collage, pen and ink, three dimensional designs in wood sculpture and wire sculpture. Different types of print-making are done on linoleum, cardboard, wood, monoprint, and silk screen. Emphasis is placed on the technique of unity and variety of materials.

The music department has made several changes beneficial to students. Piano and guitar have been included in the music appreciation course. Piano lessons have been made available to interested students one day a week.

Gerald Coleman has become the first student to serve as an assistant conductor of the chorus. Not only is there piano accompaniment but jazzy and African instruments have been added.

Music theory is now arranged to permit each student to accelerate at his own rate. Programmed textbooks are used.

Another new semester course is African music. Donations of African musical instruments by friends and parents of Coolidge students have helped to make the course a success. As students learned the sounds, names, and uses of these instruments they were encouraged to create their own music. They used simple notations to preserve their compositions.

Bernard Fletcher uses a wood tool in a wood working class to make the desired impression on his work of art.

Janice Smith presses down on a wax stencil as she prepares to run off copies of a Special Bulletin in an office machines class.

Industrial Arts, Fine Arts, and Business

Arnold Metz steadies his paint brush as he strives for perfection in art class.

Innovative new courses with new equipment and new techniques helped students to prepare for the challenges of the business world.

Introduction to data processing provided an opportunity for learning about computers. Room 219 was equipped with electric typewriters and desks similar to those found in the modern business office. Room 205 was equipped with various other types of office machines. The training has been comparable to on-the-job experience. The coop program in co-op and distributive education program was broadened this year.

Subjects taught in the industrial arts department include mechanical drawing, print shop, and wood shop. These courses are important in that they develop in young men the skills necessary for profitable employment.

The instructors are now working on plans for the expansion of the industrial arts program.

Courses Prepare Students for Useful Living

Barbara Johnson dreams of the music which she will produce from her "skin drum" in the African music class.

Student studies in the business class. Mike McDaniels, performs a daily check on the business plan.

Foreign Languages

The language department challenges the student of today to learn the culture, tradition, and history of foreign countries. Not only did the curriculum this year include the four standard languages, French, German, Spanish, and Latin, but also Swahili. In addition to Swahili the offering of German was expanded to a third year course of study.

The freedom of experimentation is evident in the use of tapes, records, and new language publications. Teachers have supplemented the textbook with class trips, talks by visiting speakers, and with interesting personal experiences.

In keeping foreign languages relevant and on the occasion of Martin Luther King's birthday Sharon Green gave a report in German. Her theme was "How can we celebrate Martin Luther King's birthday."

Michael Blakey pinpoints the east coast of Africa as the origin of an African word in Coolidge's new course, Swahili.

Much of today's understanding of modern languages comes from personal experiences. Here German teacher, Luther Zischmidt, relates to his German II class some of the experiences he had in Bavaria.

Languages can be learned through room decor. Spanish students study for an upcoming test under a back-drop of historical posters.

Sharon Robinson and Linda Fields look at a newly arrived French paper. The headlines read "Americans on the Moon."

Denise Turner, Linda Soremoto, and Nathaniel Cunningham give a report to French I students.

John Rex picks up a letter from his teacher in the cafeteria.

Lunch Time Activities

James Brown and William Henry exchange stories about the pizza they ate for lunch.

The Varsity shop, which is the school's official store, is open during lunch. Students can buy a variety of items, including t-shirts, sweatshirts, and more. The shop is open during lunch and after school.

Students are seen at the Varsity shop.

During their lunch period, these Cool cats make use of the ping-pong tables in the armory.

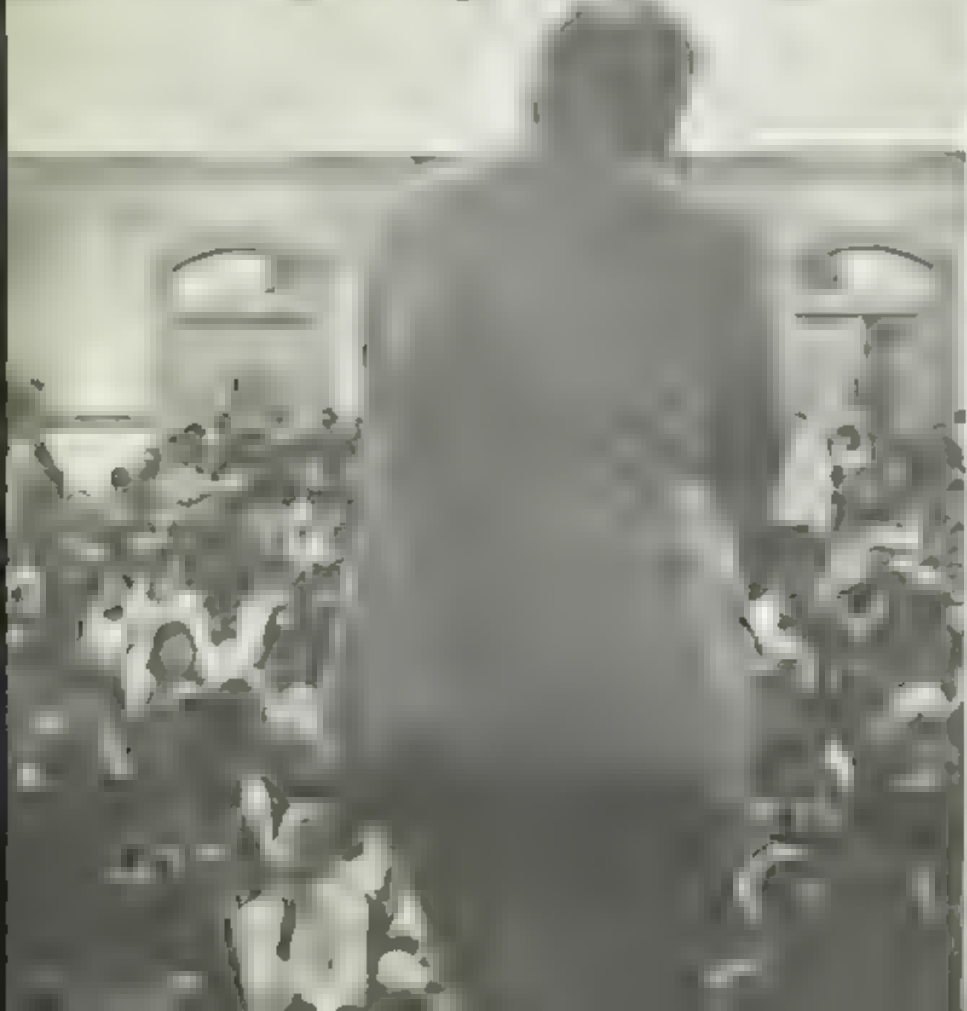

Lunch hour activities added variety and excitement to student life. Some students remained in the cafeteria and talked with friends while others took advantage of the opportunity to go to the armory and play chess, checkers, ping-pong or table-top pool. For some students, the outdoors was the plaza and the park next to the school to socialize. When there was rain or snow, the students tended to group together in the basement corridor, anyhow there was socializing.

Many students went to the school library to do research work, prepare last minute homework assignments, or just to study independently and quietly before school, after school or during lunch. The library was a quiet place where students could study independently and quietly before school, after school or during lunch. The library also provided students with a place to meet their friends and study.

Len Freeman writes up a thought provoking paper while Craig Gray leisurely reads one of the magazines in the library.

PEOPLE

Dr. William Rountree, Principal

Dr. William Rountree, principal of Calvin Coolidge High School, is very proud of the fact that a great percentage of Coolidge students have high goals; that they accept the privileges and responsibilities entrusted to them. He works closely with student and community leaders and foresees greater student and community involvement as projects are formulated for the 1970's.

Dr. Rountree is enthusiastic about plans for modernization of Calvin Coolidge High School. The implementation of these plans would provide adequate room for the many, new innovative programs which he has in mind. He envisions a general improvement in instruction, especially in the areas of science, math, business, and reading. He would like to upgrade graphic arts and institute activities, such as an electronics program for vocationally-minded students. He wishes to have an advanced placement curriculum for college-bound students and improved contacts with colleges and universities in the area.

Dr. Rountree procured his early education in Washington, D.C., and is a graduate of Dunbar High School. In 1947 he received a Bachelor of Science degree from Howard University. He then continued study at Springfield College, Springfield, Massachusetts, and received a Master of Education degree from that institution in 1948. He was the recipient of a Doctor of Education degree at Springfield in 1960. Dr. Rountree has also studied at San Jose State College in California and at the Universities of Kansas and Michigan. Also, Dr. Rountree has been privileged to carry on comparative studies at various universities in Western Europe.

Dr. Rountree began his career as a teacher in the District of Columbia school system in 1948. He was a physical education instructor and coach at Spingarn High School for eight years. In 1962, he became assistant principal of Dunbar High School and in March, 1965, he became assistant principal at Coolidge.

This past summer he worked with a national committee making studies of students in large high schools. At present, he is vice chairman of a committee to set up the 1970 Association of Secondary Schools Conference to be held here in Washington.

Mr. Harry Rutherford Assistant Principal

Mr. Harry B. Rutherford received his early education in Columbia, South Carolina. He then attended Johnson C. Smith College in Charlotte, North Carolina, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics. He later earned a Master's degree at New York University and also did graduate work at Harvard.

For fifteen years Mr. Rutherford was the principal of Booker T. Washington High School in Columbia, South Carolina. Then in 1964 he left Columbia to become a Freshman Advisor at Harvard University.

Mr. Rutherford became assistant principal at Coolidge in March of 1967. Included among his many responsibilities are the supervision of all athletic contests, the making of class and schedule changes, and the preparation of data processing forms.

Mr. Rutherford believes Coolidge has rewarding academic opportunities and an active student body. He urges students to "do your thing but plan for the future."

Mrs. Elizabeth Good Assistant Principal

Mrs. Elizabeth Good, who feels that the ability to survive is the first criterion for any high school administrator, has been an assistant principal at Coolidge since January 1966.

Mrs. Good received her Bachelor of Arts degree at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, where she graduated Summa Cum Laude. She was awarded a fellowship at the University of Michigan where she received the degree of Master of Arts.

Before becoming assistant principal at Coolidge, Mrs. Good taught English and served as a counselor in the District of Columbia school system.

Mrs. Good has received many honors during her career, the most recent of which was a Meyer Fellowship which enabled her to enjoy travel abroad this past summer.

Mrs. Good feels that in her work as assistant principal, she gets a one-sided view of Coolidge. She comes in contact with those students who have problems in connection with their school work. She regrets that she does not have more contact with "the many fine Coolidge students of whose achievements we are proud."

Mr. Charles Brown Assistant Principal

Mr. Charles E. Brown as a high school student in Thomasville, Georgia, played on the varsity football and baseball teams. Mr. Brown received a Bachelor of Science degree at Savannah College and a Master's degree at New York University where he majored in economics and business administration. He also did graduate work at Howard University.

Mr. Brown's educational experience has included teaching at the Veterans High School Center, Armstrong High School, and Phelps Vocational High School. He was a counselor at Bell before coming to Coolidge in 1968 to be an assistant principal.

During World War II, Mr. Brown served in the Pacific area in the United States Army. He now holds the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and a MODLS assignment.

Mr. Brown would like to see more dedication, cooperation, and patience at Coolidge in a united effort to achieve educational objectives. In commenting upon his efforts to get students to school on time, Mr. Brown explained that this "helps to prepare the student for good job attendance."

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

The story of the 1969-1970 senior class is novel in many respects. For the first time it was arranged that graduating Coolidgites should receive their diplomas at the National Cathedral in exercises to be held on June 9, 1970. Prior to their march to the chords of "Pomp and Circumstance", however, the seniors faced many problems, while hardly neglecting to enjoy the social gala reserved for the high school senior.

The Senior Class Committees were organized early in the year and thus the schedule of events for a busy year was begun. One of the major difficulties was that of fund raising, for a four-day class trip to Puerto Rico. The first fund raising activity was a "Kick Off" Dance at the River Road Unitarian Church. Shortly afterwards the underclassmen were challenged on the gridiron by the seniors in a Powder Puff Game. Another debutante idea was adopted by the seniors as they arranged to have a daily coffee break of donuts, cocos, and coffee. A raffle was held once a month.

Among the many new innovations added at Coolidge during the school year 1969-1970, but most important to the seniors, was the new Coolidge pace set by the class of 1970.

"Twice your size," says Glenn Price as Doris Dixon measures him for his cap and gown.

ACTIVITIES

COOLIDGE'S 1969-1970 STUDENT GOVERNMENT

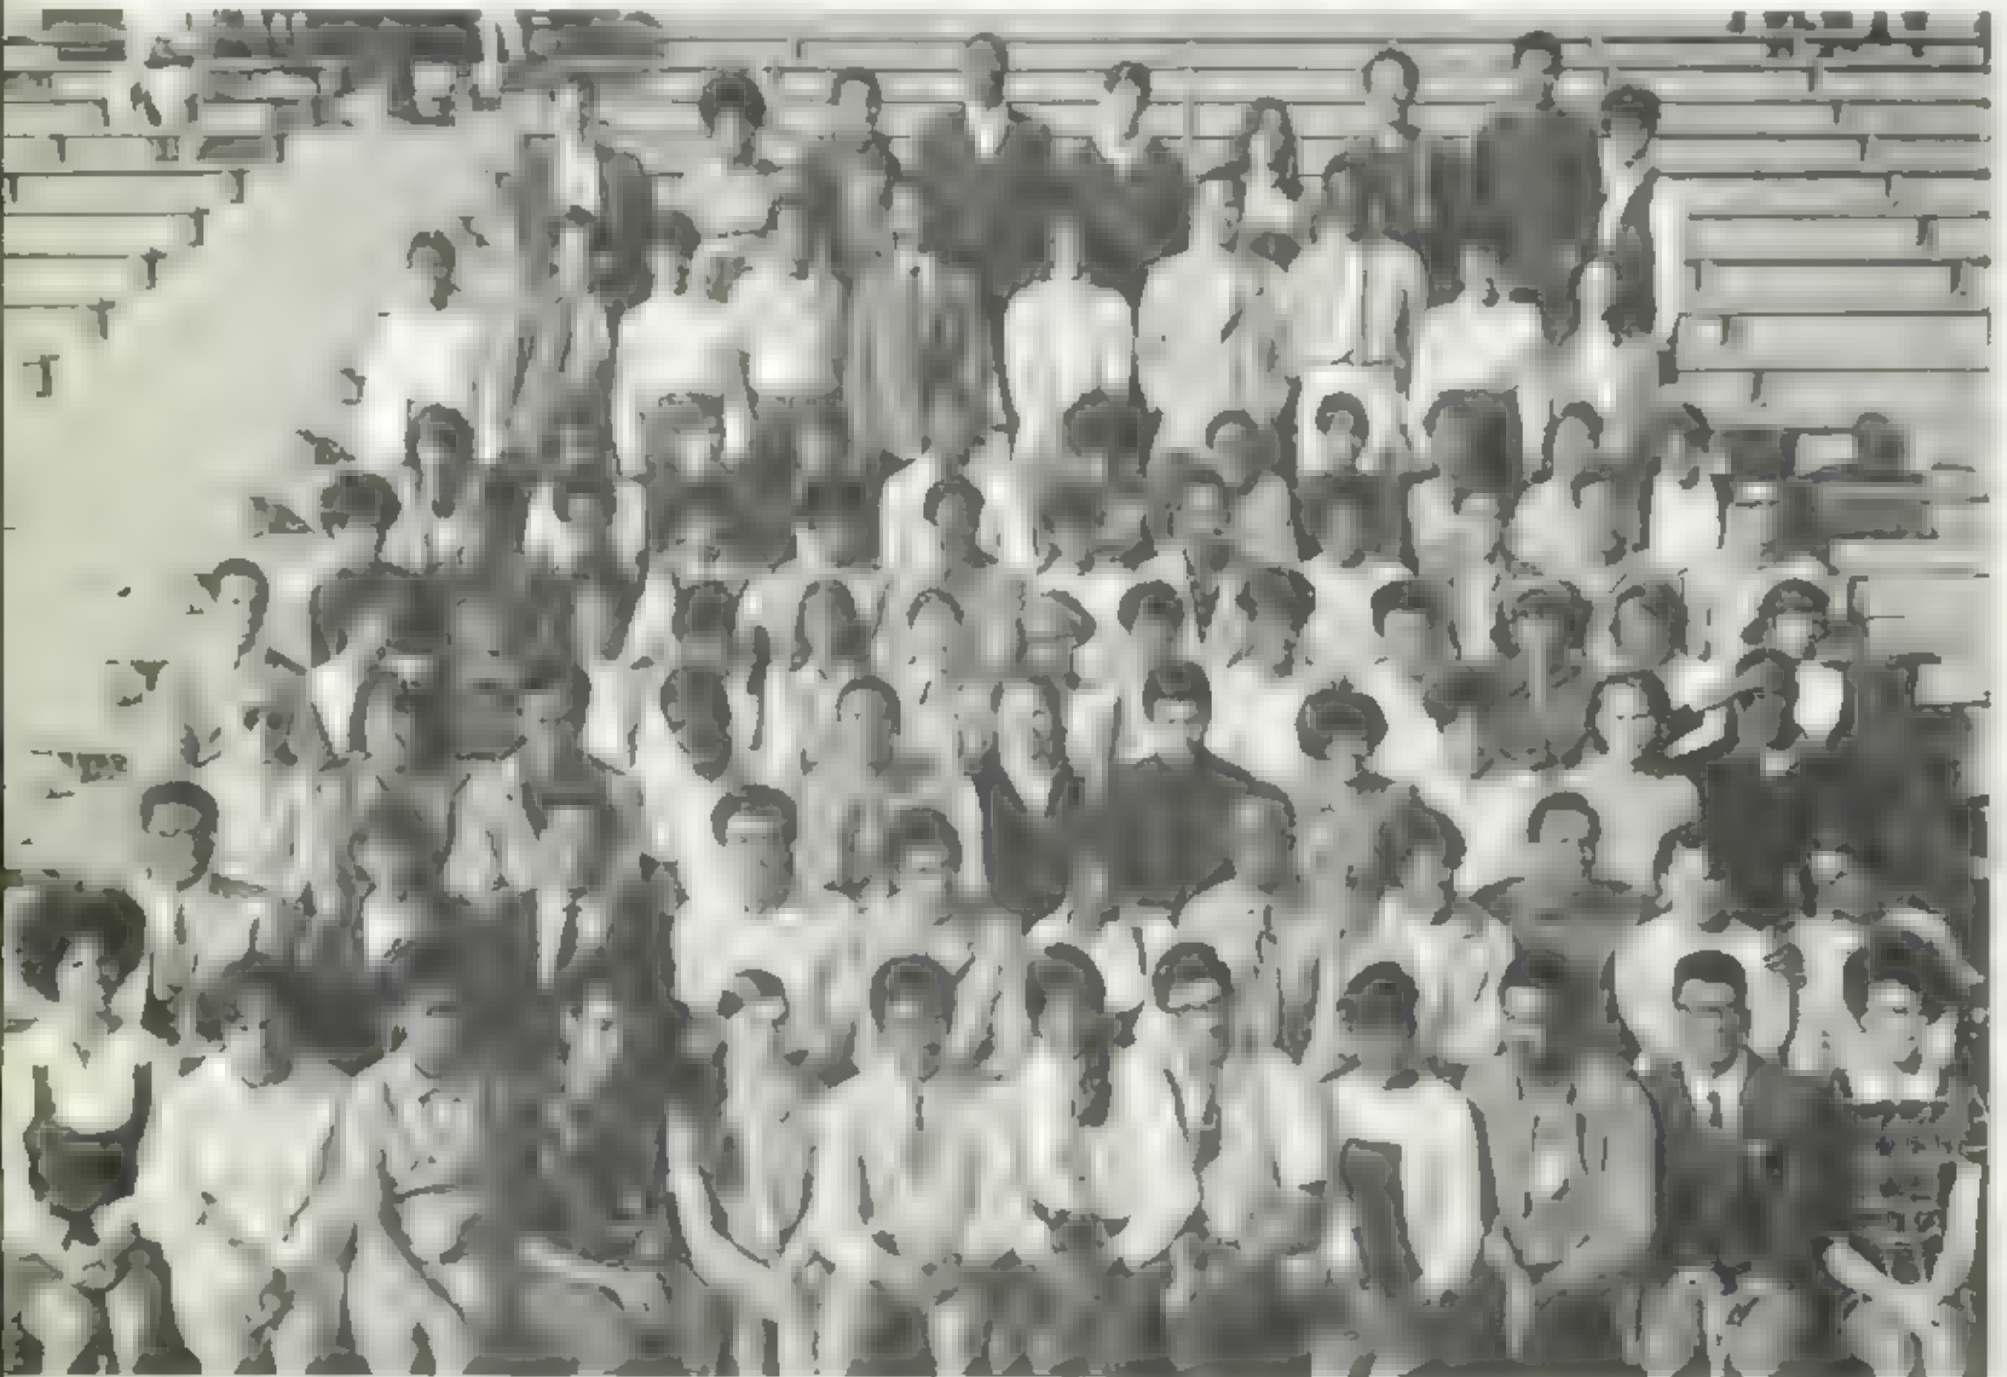

The 1969-1970 student government accomplished many changes in Coolidge.

The student government was responsible for the student and parent guide books issued at the beginning of the school year. They provided buses for football games, and organized pep rallies. Several beautification programs were sponsored by the council for the betterment of the school. The student government chartered every school club. This was done so that the student government would have some control over club activities.

The student government initiated three exchange programs. The schools involved were Roosevelt, National Cathedral School for Girls, and Spingarn. These programs helped Coolidge students have a better understanding of other schools in the Washington area.

Mr. Robert Golibart, sponsor of the student government, was ill for a large portion of the year, but the organization managed to survive and thrive.

As an outcome of a January community meeting, which included Central School Administration officials, School Board members, and others from the community, the Concerned Coalition for Better Education at Coolidge was organized. A committee was elected to oversee and coordinate the activities of the Coalition. This committee was composed of: Richard McNair, Carlos Hamlin and Michael Blakey—students; Mr. Samuel Taylor, and Mr. Everett Lallis—teachers; Mrs. Robert Good and Mrs. John Agard—parents. Two additional committees were formed, the "inside" and "outside" committees. The "inside" committee tried to solve problems and to implement certain changes within Coolidge. The "outside" committee worked on problems which required action from the School Board and Central Administration.

Frank Bohanon and Mr. Cyrus Nero, president of the Home and School Association, presided over a January Community meeting. In this picture, Frank is asking students, parents, and teachers to write down their solutions to problems at Coolidge, such as out-dated textbooks, the lack of relevancy in certain courses, and non-credit mandatory work. The Concerned Coalition, including parents, teachers, and students, was the outcome of this meeting.

THE 1970 COOLIDGE REEVU

In January and February, the Talent Show pit band organized and practiced various numbers for the 1970 Coolidge Reevu, planned for late spring. A typical afternoon practice session in the clubroom included

QUILL AND SCROLL

"Ye shal know the truth and the truth shal make ye free" is the motto of the Quill and Scroll Society. Its purpose is to recognize and reward students making valuable contributions to the staffs of the school newspaper or yearbook in the way of editorials, business management, or photography.

A student must be a junior or a senior to be eligible for membership. He must rank in the upper third of his class at the time of his election, and must have served more than one year on one of the school's publications. He must have demonstrated integrity, friendship, judgement, and initiative.

The members of the Quill and Scroll Society are Front: Linda Suyemoto, Louise Leonard, Edna Street, Deborah Manning, Carolyn

Davis, Francis Stutz. Back: Karl Bowman, Arthur Stalks, David Vlahov, Gerald Coleman, Jock Banks.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Scholarship, character, service, and leadership are the requirements for election to membership in the National Honor Society. A student must have made first honors every semester to be considered during the junior year. He must rank in the upper fourth of the class to be considered in the senior year. No more than ten percent of the graduating senior class of any school may be inducted.

A special induction service is held annually for new members. This is usually held in the middle of February. At the time of the induction service, there was a candle-lighting ceremony symbolizing the four prerequisites for membership and stressing the importance of each.

The officers of the Honor Society are Duane Lambeth, Secretary, Edna Street, President Deborah Manning, Treasurer

Hustle and bustle and confusion. That's the COURIER office. Despite the seeming chaos, The Coolidge COURIER once again maintained its high standards of journalism. Many new features were added, including a club column, an advice-to-the-lovelorn column, and "guest Editorials"

For the first time, the journalism class helped in putting out the COURIER. They used the skills learned in their course. The students wrote copy, designed layouts, and proofread the paper galleys.

Preparations for the publication of the 1970 Coolidge Corral, by a staff of dedicated, responsible, students started early in the school year. After choosing a theme, the main layout was planned. Student and faculty pictures were taken. New staff members were added to share the heavy work load. Editors advised assistant editors, checked layouts, and the tentative copy for each page. The layout of pages was revised again and again

The spelling of hundreds of names was checked and rechecked. The problems of finding pictures and identifying elusive Coolidgates was finally overcome by the persistence of the editorial staff. Pages were completed one by one and sent to the printer. Then finally proofs were returned and, after necessary corrections were made, the 1970 Corral ceased to be an idea and became a reality.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America is an organization formed to inspire students to enter fields related to teaching. Several films were shown and guest speakers comprised meeting agendas.

As community service, members participated in a tutoring program for elementary age children at Takoma Park Baptist Church. At Christmas time, the F.T.A. sponsored a Toy Dance in the Armory. The toys that were collected as an admission fee were given to a day school program. The members sponsored an Easter party for the students whom they tutored.

Near the end of the school year members participated in a Spring Conference at the D.C. Teachers College.

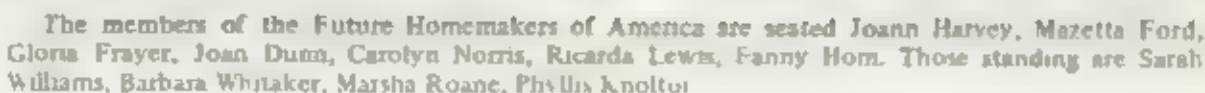

The members of the F.T.A. are Denise Bruton, Parthena Hooper, Philip Miller, Joyce Smith, James Grant, Mazette Ford, Diane Bailey, Aletha Hill, Carolyn Browne, Deborah McSwain, Deborah Walker, Avis

Nelson, Edith Brock, Ernestine Davis, Barbara Whitaker, Ricarda Lewis, Linda Ellard, Clyde Nelson, Linda Jeffers.

SPANISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUBS

The language clubs strive to extend the study of foreign languages beyond the classroom and the confines of a textbook.

The French Club was fortunate to have as a member this year an American Field Service exchange student from France. Marie Barillaud brought with her many interesting films of her homeland.

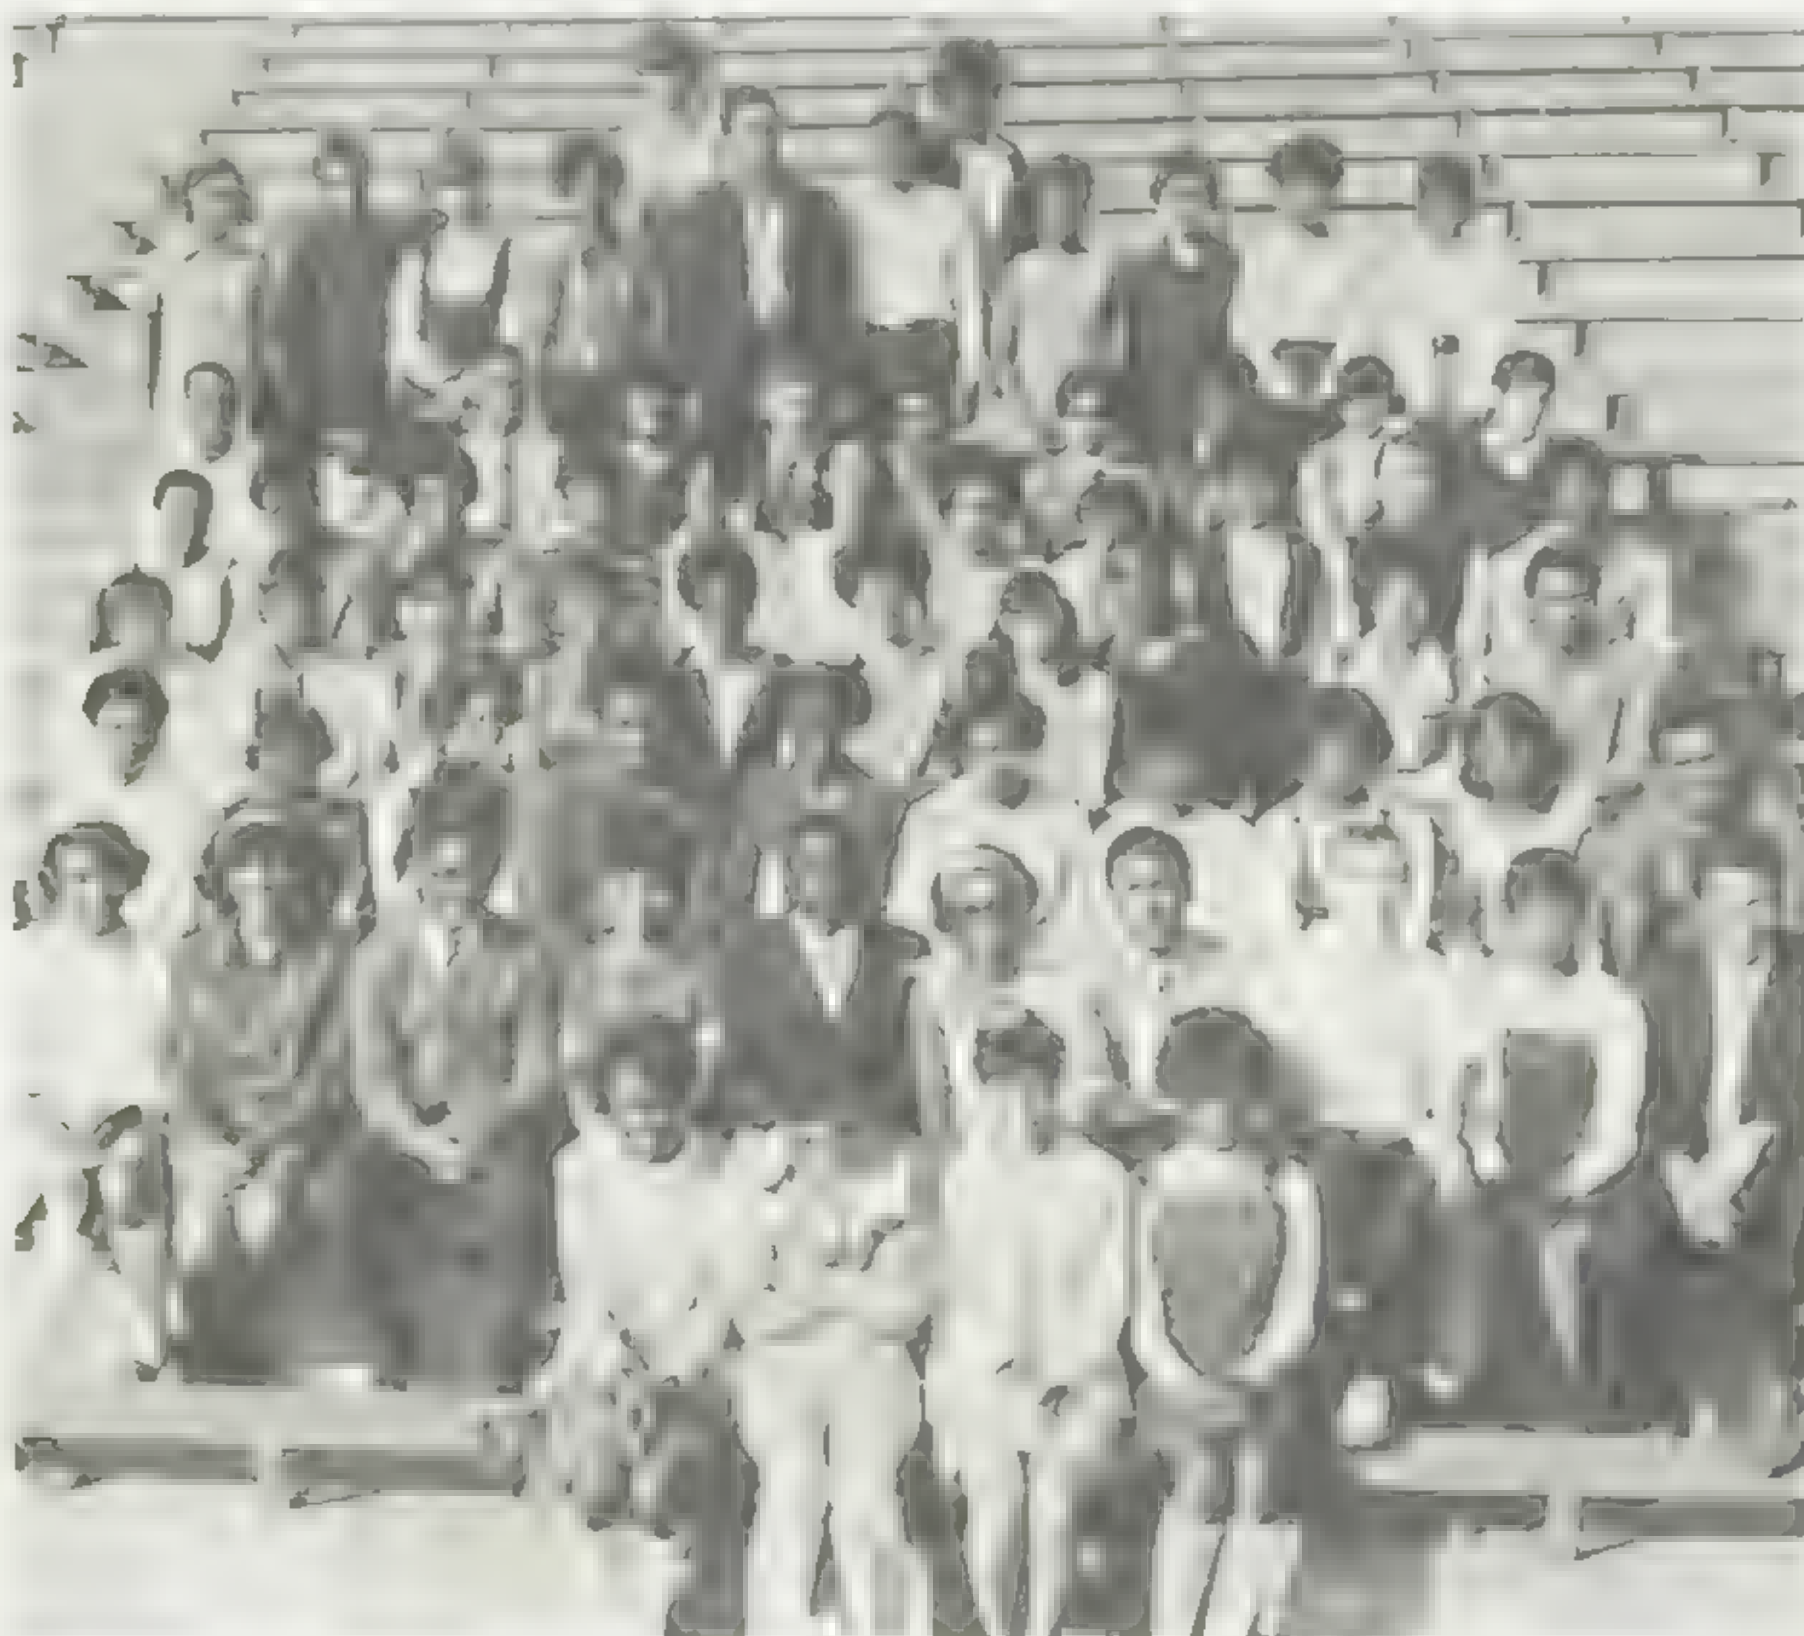

At Christmas the members of the French Club sold cards for UNICEF and the Spanish Club gave a party to benefit this organization.

The members of the Spanish Club are Joyce Smith, Duane Lambeth, Avis Nelson, Caddie Cooper, Carolyn Black, Clyde Nelson, Ricarda Lewis, Michael Johnson, Renee Richardson, Ricky Yates, Gilbert Johnson, Sherry Carter, Sterling Robinson, Carolyn Brown, Patrice Jackson, Mark Jackson, Sharon Dyson, Linda Jeffers, Linda Ellard, Hunter Car-

The Spanish Club attended a Foreign Language Session at the State Department to obtain information on careers as interpreters. During their tour of the State Department, the students had an opportunity to meet astronaut, Mike Collins.

The German Club viewed many films which introduced the students to Germany, the people, and their customs. The German Club attended the Mayfest at Dunbarton Oaks, where German culture was exhibited.

SAFETY CLUB

The members of the Safety Club are Front Row: Renaldo Jackson, Marilyn Gaskins. Back: Jackie May, David Coleman, Debra White, Gary Woodward, Patrice Jackson.

The goal of the Safety Club is to create and promote safety in the D.C. area. The members have visited several police stations for discussions on safety promotion. Several members of the group have aided younger children at crosswalks to and from school. President Rex McCallister is also the President of the D.C. chapter of the Youth Safety Program. The club was organized and supervised by Mr. Harvard Jones.

The Junior Red Cross is dedicated to helping others by means of its workshops and projects.

This year's projects included collecting cans of food for needy families, volunteer work at area hospitals, and group meetings of the Inter-school Council to discuss problems in our society. The club under the direction of Mrs. Popps, planned a clothing drive in which the money would go to aid needy people in different parts of the world.

The Library Service Club is an organization of approximately 15 students who work at the library as volunteers. The members assist in the checking of books in and out, issuing of overdue books-reminders to students and the sorting of books. The club also helps teachers with the visual-aid program. The members keep the library up-to-date by participating in the selection of new books.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club aids students in expanding their knowledge of the Principles of mathematics. Films and speakers from a variety of fields dealing with mathematics have served as invaluable sources of information to students this year.

The members of the Math Club as well as students from the mathematics classes participated the Annual Math Contest in March.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Coolidge's Chemistry Club has provided its members with an opportunity to further their interest in the field of chemistry. This has been achieved by conducting several experiments including destructive distillation of water, fermentation of molasses and yeast to make charcoal, and melting of molten iron and aluminum.

To join the Chemistry Club, one must have had chemistry or be presently enrolled. The Club meets twice a week.

The members of the Chemistry Club are Deborah Littlejohn, Denise Wood, Cynthia Best, Sherry Carter, Carolyn Chambers, Michael Johnson, Jacqueline Mayo, and Lynda Randolph.

The members of the Biology Club are: Melisha Cutler, Sharyl VanHook, Carolyn Chambers, Michael Kelly, James Sharon Hanna, Carol Dubard, Sonja Burton, Carolyn Davis, Wood, Maurice Butler, Marsha Turner, and Kathy Martin

BIOLOGY CLUB

The main purpose of the Biology Club is to further students knowledge of biological concepts. The students meet each week to hear speakers, view films, and discuss results of individual experimentation.

Many Coolidge students don't realize it, but there are many beautiful flowers in our greenhouse and Mr. Kinsey, the sponsor of the Biology Club sees that it is kept in order.

The Biology Club sponsored an after school study session to aid those students who were having difficulty in their science courses.

While the stage crew is almost always left unrecognized as a school organization, it has played a fundamental role in all of our school activities. The group of students worked diligently to make all assemblies, from a Class Meeting right up to the Talent Show, a success. The stage crew not only functioned in the auditorium, but also set up the public address system at sports events and other stadium activities. The stage crew has many other responsibilities off the set and have proven to be an indispensable service.

STAGE CREW AND BOOSTER CLUB

The members of the Booster Club played an important role in the support of Coohdge's athletic teams. On game days as the football team took the field, the Booster Club members cheered in full force. They supported the cheerleaders with cheers designed both to frighten away intruders and inspire the Colts on to victory.

The members of the Booster Club are Denise Adams, Nadine Akers, Cynthia Best, Beverly Burdson, Carolyn Brown, Sheila Bryan, Sandra Bunting, Cynthia Burroughs, Sherry Cartwe, Melsha Culter, Robin Edmonds, Linda Ellard, Linita Gaines, Jennifer Baskins, Marge Graetz, Francine Green, Geraldine Green, Walter Hart, Michelle Higgs, Sharon Hill, Ivonne Holley, Beverly Jackson, Mark Jackson, Vernita Jackson, Juanita

BLACK STUDENT UNION

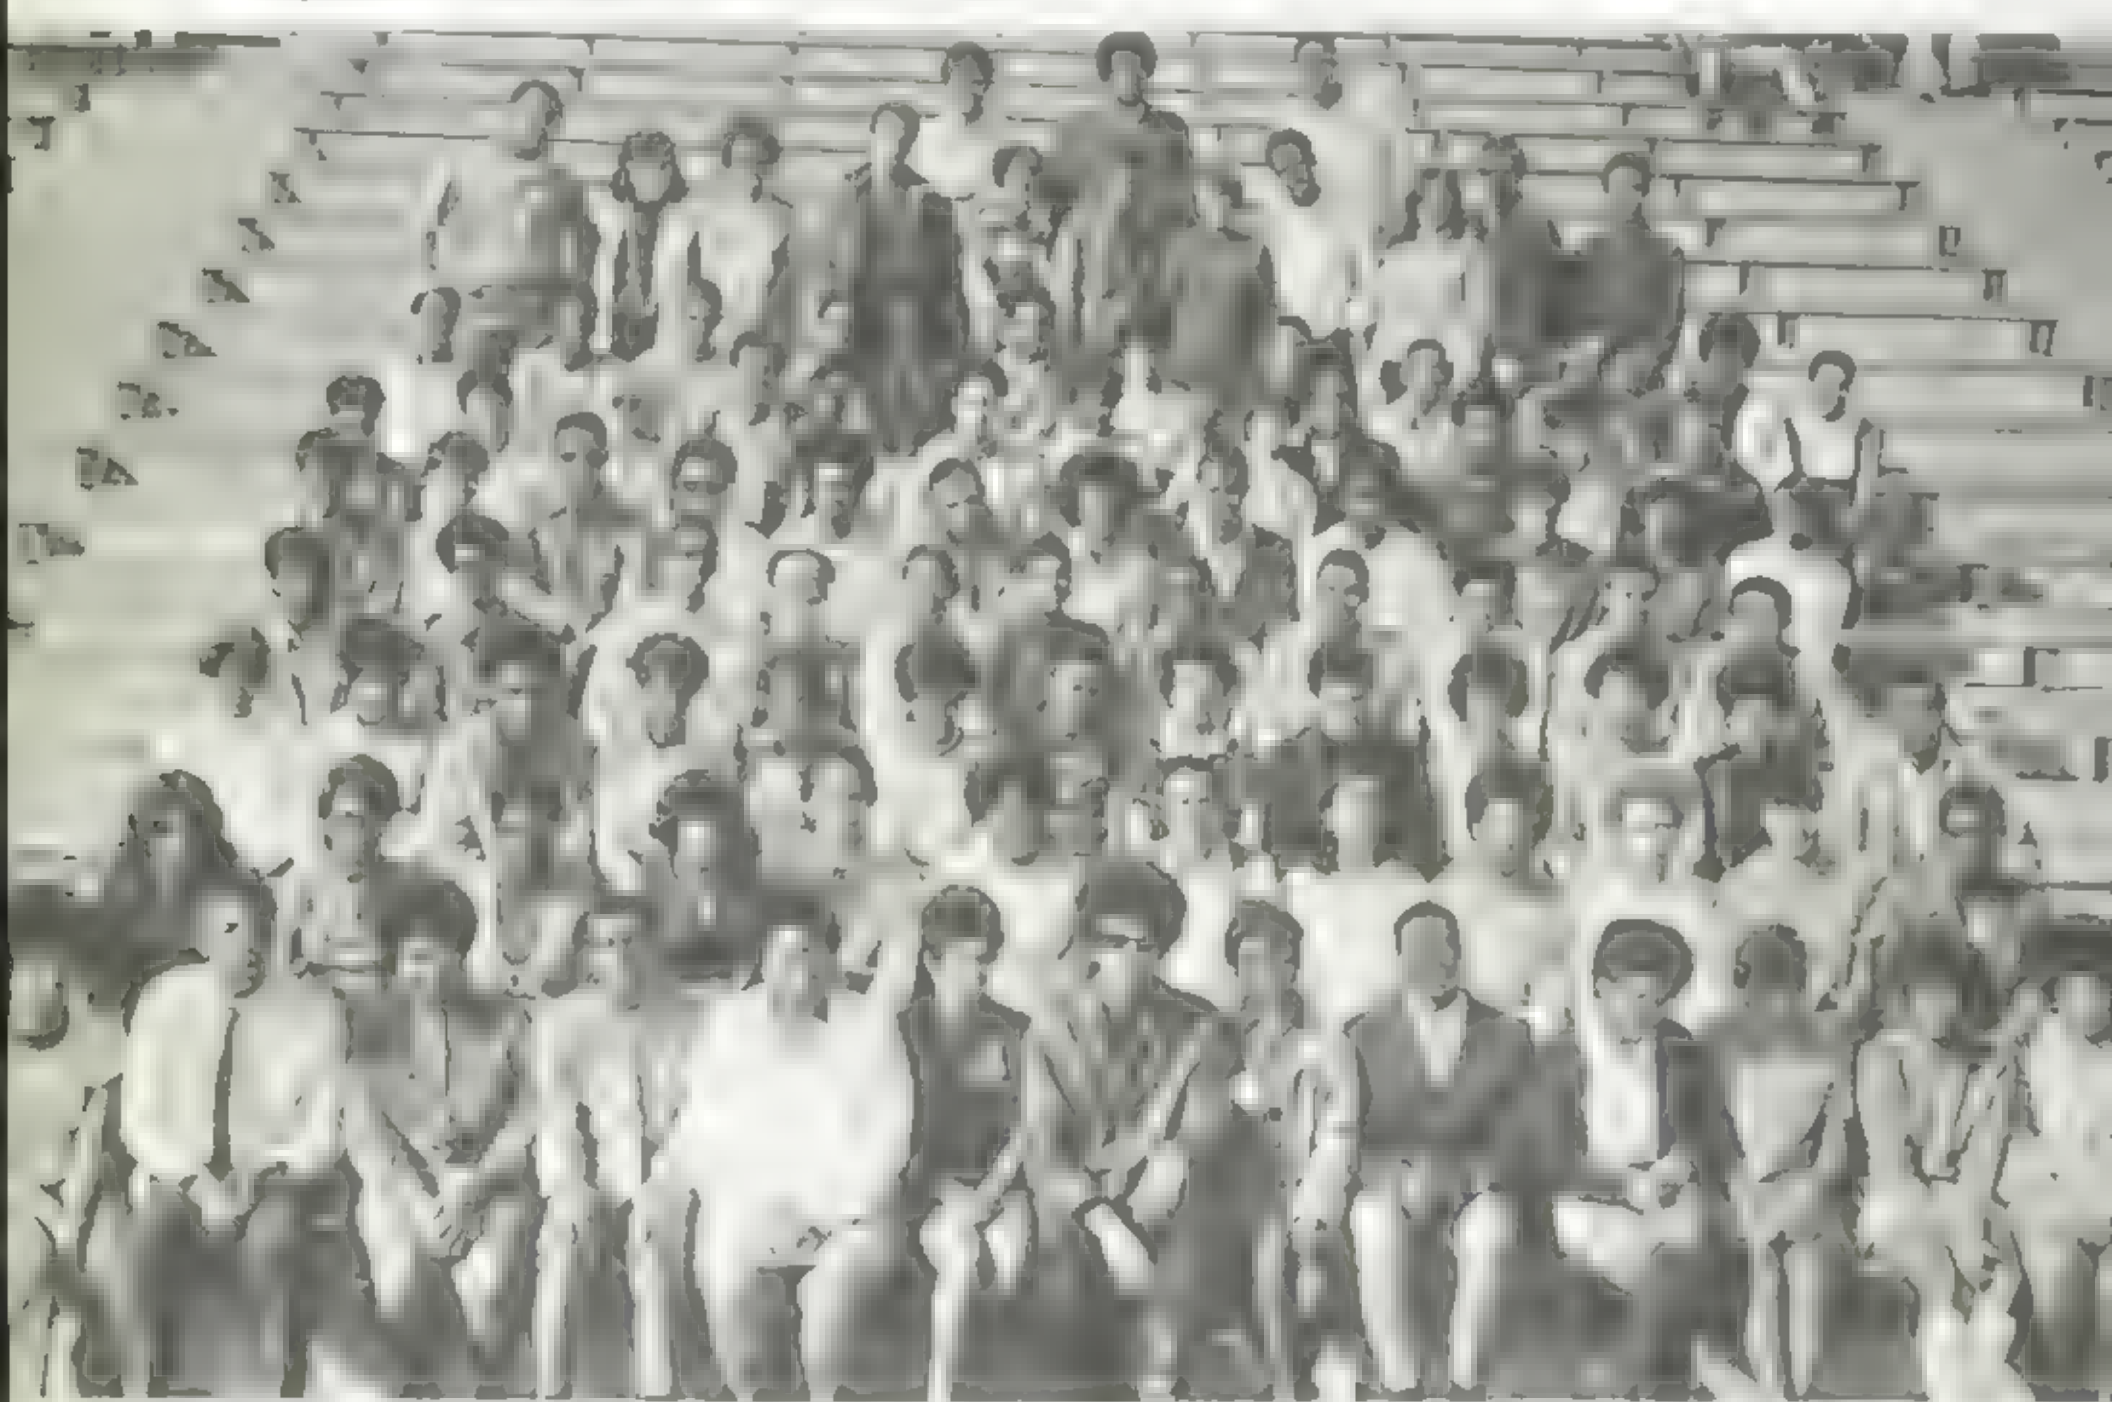

The Black Student Union of Calvin Coolidge High School was organized for the purpose of promoting black awareness. Members are urged to keep up to date on current issues and become involved in their community.

The members participated in a peace demonstration protesting the war in Vietnam on October 15, 1969. They assisted the Student Council plan activities for the Nov. 15th Mortatorium.

A petition to make January 15th a National holiday was sponsored by the B.S.U. The petition was delivered to Secondary School Superintendent, George Rhodes. Throughout the year members diligently worked to initiate change in Coolidge by participating in Home and School meetings, serving on the Concern Coalition for Better Education at Calvin Coolidge, and by staging a one day boycott.

Field trips were taken to the Center for Black Education. Another activity was karate lessons for B.S.U. members.

The primary purpose of the Fashionable Gents is to promote order and efficiency in the auditorium during assemblies. Members of the group made certain that each section had a definite assignment of seats in the auditorium and took attendance.

The Fashionable Gents have also been a fashion-social club providing social and recreational activities for the school. Some of the activities included a dance for sophomores in September, and social dances in following months. In December, the Gents presented a Talent-Variety Show for the junior and senior students in an attempt to make students aware of the cafeteria situation with "The Puzzle People."

The members of the cheerleader squad are Vernita Jackson, Juanita Johnson, Karen Freeman, Sharon Robinson, Deborah Mackey, and Linda Suyemoto.

CHEERLEADERS

Coolidge's vivacious cheerleaders of 1969-70 bolstered school spirit among colt football and basketball fans. Excited crowds responded enthusiastically to their rendition of such traditional cheers as "Bobby Socks", "Fire", and "Two bits". Their many hours of hard practice paid off as they continued to stir up spirit for the teams with new cheers. These included "The Colts are a bad earthquake", "Sock it to me", and "Stop us if you can".

MAJORETTES

During half-time at Coolidge's football games, the spectators were entertained by the colorful majorettes.

Amid fans and tuneful, familiar music by the band such as "Oh, Happy Day", "Everyday People", "Spinning Wheel", and "Soulful Strut", these attractive girls went through a series of intricate maneuvers, baton twirls, and group marches, which caught the approval of the spectators.

The girls began practicing their routines during the summer months. Outside of school the majorettes participated in the Howard University Homecoming parade.

The members of the majorette squad are: Victoria Harrison, Sharon Jackson, Stephanie Butler, Debra White, Deborah Millard, Victoria Johnson, Leruta Gaines, Judy Moore, Michelle Henderson, Sydel Gales, Donta

Dixon, Janice Day, Jackie Williams, Denise Cannon, Pamela Martin, Sharon Dyson, Jennifer Gaskins, Carolyn Norris, and kneeling are: Joyce Bellfield—captain, and Janice Spencer—co-captain.

G.S.A. BOARD

The G.S.A. Board is composed of those members of the Girl's Sports Association who are the coordinators of many extracurricular sports activities. These girls sponsor after school sports, both in intramural and interhigh competition. The members of the Board promote good sportsmanship and cooperation among G.S.A. members.

Each member of the G.S.A. earns points on the basis of actual participation in various sports. At the annual Sports Award Dinner, the girls who have been most outstanding in their active participation, receive letters, patches, and bars as recognition of their achievements. With the help of the Student Council and physical education teachers, the G.S.A. Board selects a senior girl to receive the J.F.K. Sports Award.

In order to promote spirit in Coolidgites, the Board sponsors the sale of pompoms and banners at the homecoming game.

C-CLUB

The membership of the Calvin Coolidge "C" Club is composed of the recipients of the coveted school letter awarded for participation in interhigh sports. The Coolidge "C" signifies diligence, high standard of character, good sportsmanship, and service to the school.

The club meets weekly to plan athletic activities. It sponsors the annual "C" Club Dance, the Faculty vs. "C" Club Basketball Game, and the Varsity vs. Faculty Basketball Game.

The Club's activities culminate in May when the annual "C" Club Banquet is held. At that time varsity letters are presented to the year's outstanding athletes at Coolidge.

MUSIC AND READING: CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

The Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Slaughter, has made many public appearances. At Christmas they sang for the Department of Labor and the Retired Teachers' Association. Also, they appeared on WMAL TV, WFAN TV and WMAL Radio at Christmas time. The Mixed Chorus received a "Letter of Commendation" from Mayor Washington for their excellent performance of "Christmas Downtown" at the District Building. This year's accompanist was John Marlowe.

Included among the activities of the chorus members was a voice class. This class, which met after school, helped students to develop techniques of singing and knowledge needed for soloing. The Coolidge Madrigal, made up of chorus members, performed with the D.C. Youth Symphony.

The Music Club, sponsored by Mrs. Slaughter, gives its members a chance to perform before an audience. A typical program consisted of a vocal selection accompanied by a flute; piano selections; a guitar and clarinet duet. The music played by the members was mostly classical and popular. Plans were made for a Spring Concert. The Music Club also had several guest performers.

The Reading Club, sponsored by Dr. Ethna Winston, was started to promote good reading habits. An increased reading speed was acquired along with a greater interest in reading.

The Reading Club helped its members to continue their education.

COOLIDGE BANDS AND ORCHESTRA

Coolidge's football, concert, and cadet bands, all under the direction of Mr. Jesse B. Adams, provided Coolidge with musical selections for every important occasion during the 1969-70 school year.

The football band, with its thirty-six members, presented exciting halftime shows during the football season. They played popular songs such as "Spinning Wheel", "Oh Happy Day", and "Soulful Strut". The rhythmic tones of the band brightened the spirits of many enthusiastic spectators. This band also played at Howard University's and Federal City College's homecoming games.

The concert band added a lighter more subtle tone to band music. This band, of fifty members played numbers such as "William Tell," and "First Suite in E^b." They played for programs during Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Negro History Week.

Coolidge's cadet band trained its members for military service in the field of music. They learned strict discipline, and the military skills of marching and drilling.

Coolidge's orchestra, also under the direction of Mr. Adams, may be credited with many cultural accomplishments. They played great pieces such as "The Messiah", and "Chaconne". The orchestra played at Burdick Vocational High School, as well as here at Coolidge.

Marksmanship was one of the competitive areas under the Principal's General Excellency Award. Every cadet took courses in marksmanship and was urged to join the Cadet Rifle Club. Outstanding club members were chosen to be on the Colt Rifle Team. The team competed with other cadet rifle teams in the Washington area, shooting at NRA targets from standing, kneeling and prone positions. This year the Colt Rifle Team tied with Roosevelt for third place in the Inter-high West Division. Team member, Douglas Frazier, placed fifth in the High Five. The High Five recognizes the five best marksmen in the city.

Topographic and military symbols, 8-digit coordinates, intersection and resection were studied by the Map and Terrain Analysis Team. The team, composed of the five best cadets in Map and Terrain Analysis class, competed in the annual city wide map test in May. The Map team has always scored high in previous competitions with a second place in 1968 and a third place in 1969.

The annual city-wide inspection was held in April, with office files, weapon maintenance, and uniform care being closely examined. In May the Battalion Competition was held, during which the entire cadet corps was rated on rifle manual, marching manual, and leadership ability. This was the toughest and most important competition of the year to which the entire school turned out to cheer the cadets on to victory.

Hail To The Interhigh Champions Of '69

When all the dust of the 1969 football season had settled on the gridirons of Washington's high schools, the Coolidge Colts stood as the number one team. Under the leadership of head coach Phillip Gamous, defense coach Samuel Taylor, and co-captains Robert Screen and Tyrone Mathis, Coolidge had won its first city championship since 1946. Finally the long summer and fall practices had brought success.

In the opening game Labron Rudisill's fifty-eight yard touchdown reception from Byron Nelson gave to Coolidge its only score and a 6-6 tie with Ballou.

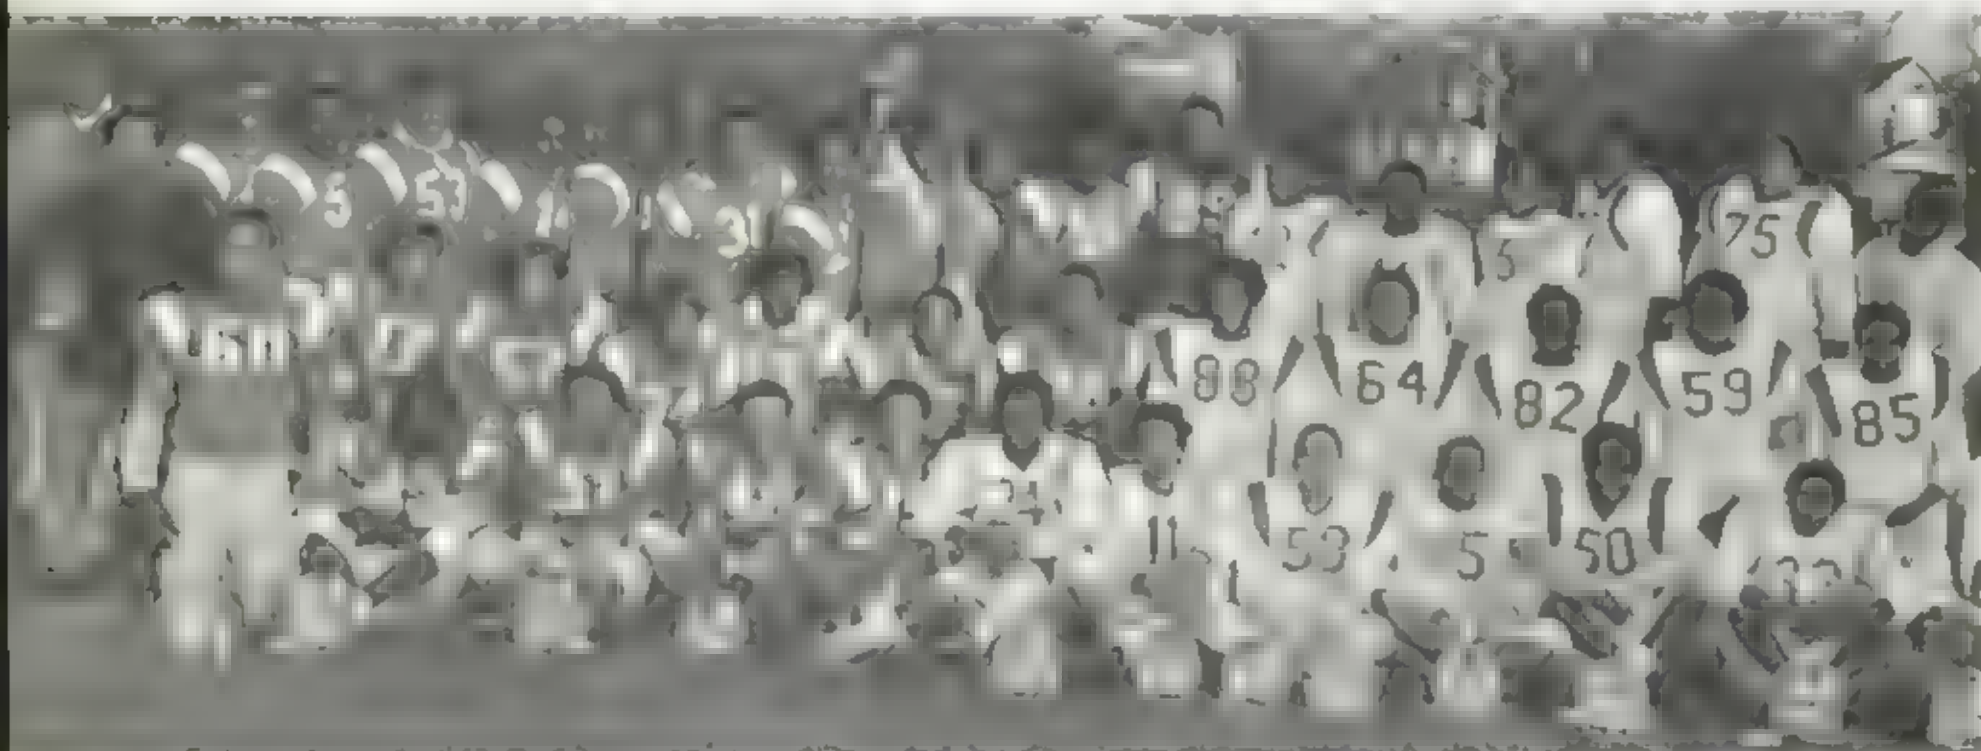

A week later the Colts struggled to a 14-14 tie against Eastern. Scoring punch came when Rudisill scampered eighty yards with a kickoff and quarterback Nelson scored from one yard out. Eastern's offense was throttled by two interceptions by Rudisill, who played cornerback on defense.

Wilson provided the Colts with their first win. Combined with two touchdown drives, of 81 and 46 yards, and a five-yard score by Robert Screen, and costly errors on Wilson's part, the Coolidge gridironers sealed away this win — 22-7.

The Colts would have had their second win in the Roosevelt game if only the last four minutes of play could have been eliminated. But the two eight-yard touchdown runs by Robert Screen were nullified by eight Roosevelt points in these final moments of the game.

By shutting out Bell 12-0, Coolidge kept alive the hope of getting the title. The team was now right behind Cardoza. Robert Screen stood out as the star of the game with Bell. All evening long he punched out important yards in the two touchdown drives and he ended the first half with a four-yard scoring dash. Standouts on the defense were cornerback Labron Rudisill, middle guard Vincent Jones, and defensive tackle Wesley Wooten.

Friday, October 24, was homecoming and the Colts pleased the crowd by scoring a second consecutive shutout, this time over Western. Two touchdowns by Robert Screen and single scores by Charles Perry, Labron Rudisill, and Larry Berry contributed to the 34-0 victory.

The following Monday Coolidge was awarded first place when a game was forfeited by Cardoza because of an ineligible player. Coolidge's record was now 4-0-3 and Cardoza's was 4-1.

Coolidge then tripped Ballou 22-14 and thus padded the Colt's league lead. Again Screen scored twice while Byron Nelson scampered 25 yards to pay dirt.

The game with Cardoza settled the interhigh west league title. Cardoza had previously given up only 15 points all year, but their defense could not endure the holes punched by Byron Nelson, Ricky Jennings, and the other Colts. With 56 seconds left in the first period Nelson and Jennings combined on a 69-yard pass-run touchdown.

Robert Screen scored from the five after getting a 15 yard screen pass in the third quarter.

Ricky Jennings scored again as the result of a 73-yard drive. After getting 23 yards through the air, Nelson handed off the ball to Jennings for a yard to the end zone.

A charged-up Coolidge team battled McKinley for the interhigh championship at Kennedy Stadium on November 28. An enthusiastic crowd of 9,500 was on hand to witness the opening kick-off. On the first series of plays McKinley could not score. But when Coolidge got the ball, the Trainers pushed Coolidge into the endzone for a safety. The Colts punched back immediately. With Labron Rudisill intercepting three enemy passes and Robert Screen running for over 100 yards a Colt victory was unavoidable. Screen scored three touchdowns and two points on the extra point conversion. The Colts scored a decisive victory, 20-2, in this historic encounter.

This year the Calvin Coolidge Varsity Basketball team had a difficult season. Before the year had started the team was faced with disadvantages such as having to get used to the loss of the perennial coach, Mr. Dory, and the acquisition of a new one, Mr. Hairston. Second of all, five regular players from last year's varsity squad were gone. But amidst all these factors the new coach was able to draw together a team that could provide stiff competition for the other teams in the league.

Though the team lost the first nine games, only three of them were league games. Individuals such as Prince Frazier, a 6'5" sophomore, and Brad Tatum, a 6'3" sophomore showed the savvy that could be the basis of a powerful team for next year. And with only three members of the varsity graduating, the prospect is good.

A great note to strike about the Coolidge Colts Varsity Basketball team is Glenn Price. Although playing with a team that had a four and seven win-loss record, he was able to cop All-Metropolitan honors.

Philip Brooks (22) catches a mixed audience of Bell defenders and teammates as he shoots a layup.

GIRLS' SPORTS

The Girls' Sports Association gives outstanding athletic girls an opportunity to excel in their favorite sports. These girls participate on the GSA basketball, volleyball, tennis, and archery teams. Intramural basketball games are held between different schools. In the Basketball Tournament section, teams compete during the morning.

During regular class time, girls are also offered badminton, softball, soccer, hockey, square-dancing, and modern dance. Fencing and trampoline are two new activities for Coolidge girls.

Deborah Manning, Michelle Henderson, and Linda Ellard are prepared for fencing, a new activity added to the girls' curricula.

ASSOCIATION

Taking some time out of an exciting game of tennis are Front Row: Sarah Williams, Brenda Bruton, Wanda Stewart, Sharon Banks, Kathy Good, and Wanda Franklin.

CROSS COUNTRY 1970

Haywood Tate completes one of the many Cross Country Runs. The team went on to win over half of their meets.

This year was the second time Coolidge fielded a competing varsity soccer team. Practice started early in the fall, as, like football, soccer is a winter sport.

With the help of returning varsity players Milton Donaldson, Jean Blaise, Demitrios Montizouris, Geoffrey Hicks, Darryl and Dale Scott and Coach Leonard Farello, the team played to the record of 4-4.

TRACK '70

The three track seasons, Cross Country, Indoor Track and Outdoor Track were all dutifully observed by Coolidge. The members of the team were running from September to June placing high in all of the meets. The Mile Relay, the shot-put, and the two mile run stood out as strong features in the Coolidge arsenal of running power. The Relay team of Haywood Tate, Alonzo Sedgewhick, Warren Hercules and Roy Fragin, showed its talents at many Winter relays

RUN FOR FUN

"Go!" and the school began to rumble with the track team practicing on the third floor of the school's new gym. The cold of the winter are Coach Bo's, Ed, Frank, Miller, and Carleton Chase.

Alvin Seligson is the baton runner in one of Coolidge's best sprints, the Mile Relay.

Warren Hercules turns on his two cylinder engine after receiving the baton from Roy Fragin.

BASEBALL

The baseball season of the Calvin Coolidge baseball team started in January when Mr. Clarence Washington posted that team try-outs would start. All who came out for baseball went through the procedure of filling out sign-up cards and getting health certificates signed by a physician.

Practices began early in March. The routine was to start off with 100 laps around the gym and then loosening up with calisthenics. The first practices were instrumental in sharpening skills unused in the winter. The team constantly drilled in the fundamental skills of baseball, such as hitting, throwing, base-running, and coaches Mr. Washington and Mr. Farelo passed on tips that help individual players. The practice of these basic skills helps toward giving the team poise needed to carry through the many nifty problems faced in the game.

Returning members to the team include Kevin Augustus, Jerry Williams, and Milton Smith. But new faces were amongst the old members and these helped the Coolidge teams to be no push-over for any team in the west.

Members of the Coolidge 1970 Baseball Team are Kevin Augustus, Harold Anderson, Forest Beale, David Coleman, Willis Francis, Ronald Franklin, Arno Frost, Alfred Hurd, Dennis Lumpkin, Thomas Maybin, Harvey Morrow, Alfred Myers, Craig Peters, Milton Smith, Eliza Walker, Shuchi Washington, Karl Williams, Jerry Williams and Coach Clarence Washington.

For those of us who will return in September, we will continue to challenge, experiment, and learn with hopes of gaining a better understanding of other people and ourselves.

For those of us who leave Coolidge this year, we have completed an education. For three years we have questioned old ways and ourselves, initiated new methods, and have evaluated the old and the new together. For Seniors, our period of testing with our freedoms will go on a broader scale because of the world of responsibility that awaits us.

Life at Coolidge meant more than the daily attendance of classes. It meant more than rapping with some buddies at lunch or after school, cheering our football team on to the Inter-High Championship Victory, and meeting with School Board officials to discuss ways of improving Coolidge. Life at Coolidge meant preparation for tomorrow's complex relationships.
